Annual Report of President
Rahm is Read at the Meeting

The Albany Chamber of Commerce meeting last night, was the first of its kind. The primary purpose of the meeting it was stated was to hear the report of President Rahm but in addition a pleasant program of oratory music and "dining" was given with success. Without prejudice to any of the artists in oratory and music the "dining" of the affair ranked high. It came first, and was so attractive that even a man of temperate habits of Dr. Goodwin, one of the orators of the evening, said that the banquet unfitted him for oratorical effort.

Little Miss Earnestine Kinsolving's reading on how a little boy tried to hide his torn clothing from his exacting aunt, was quite as delicious as was the menu prepared by the Lady's Aid Society. The accomplished entertainers, Messdames Troup, Hardage, Pickens, and Miss Alice Hutton, favored the company with a number of their best selections.

The male quartette composed of Messrs. Buttrey, Crane, Ware, and Pickens, sang several numbers greatly to the pleasure of their hearers.

Mr. Rahm, introduced as the last speaker, whose subject he said was the most important one from a business standpoint, J. H. Smith, of the Traffic Department. Mr. Smith showed that at Tuscaloosa, over $500 a month was spent on the traffic department. He said that in Birmingham, O. L. Bunn, and his assistants collected in real money over $100,000 last year, for shippers that had been over charged. He said that while for Birmingham, the water and rail routes from New York and Philadelphia, were cheaper than for Albany and Decatur the all rail routes were cheaper, that the former cost 185 cents on the hundred, while the all rail route cost only 135 cents on the hundred pounds. He said that the Interstate Commerce Commission was out in a letter saying it would hear claims for refunds on freight overcharges made during the period of the war. Mr. Smith declared emphatically that if the Chamber wished to maintain his department, that the business men must give it more attention.

Mr. Rahm's report was read and placed on file. It was heartily cheered, and showed some real accomplishments, one of which was the raising of $1,000 for the development of Muscle Shoals.

Carl Patterson, was the first speaker called by Dr. W. P. Wilks, who was the toastmaster. Mr. Patterson said that we lived in the natural gate way between the North and the South. He said that 10,000 autos could be induced to journey by here every year, with proper attention to the Bee Line Road project.

Dr. Goodwin said that we should rival Birmingham. That as a boy, he had ridden high deep in mud where the Louisville and Nashville depot now stands in the Magic city, and that he saw the forest primeval on 20th street not many years ago.

In introducing E. F. Baird, Dr. Wilks said that "no man can be made behave by working to his injury." He said Mr. Baird understood the philosophy of co-operation and practiced it. This speaker came out strong for the school bond issue. "If you defeat it, said Mr. Baird, 'instead of asking blessings on your children, you had better pity them.' He said he wished to belong to construction crew, but not to a knocker's gang, and to do real jobs, and not just hold a position. All the speakers boosted good roads. Carl Patterson came out for roads, that would connect the farmers with the markets, rather than those that would make run ways for pleasure seekers.

Captain Kilpatrick Mistreated by Reds in Bolshevik Prison Declares Letter to Speaker of House Lynne

The story of how Captain Emmett Kilpatrick has been mistreated in a Bolshevik prison, is told in a letter received by S. A. Lynne, speaker of the Alabama legislature, from Marion C. Cooper, Kosciuszko Squadron, American Legation, Warsaw, Poland.

The letter follows:
Warsaw, Poland, May 7, 1921.
Speaker, House of Representatives,
State of Alabama,
Montgomery, Alabama.

My Dear Sir—
I have just escaped from prison in Moscow where I promised Captain Emmett Kilpatrick, Uniontown, Alabama, together with whom I was a prisoner last fall and winter, that I would write you explaining exactly his situation as he feels it to be.

Captain Kilpatrick, as you perhaps know, was serving as an official representative of the American Red Cross in the Crimea when he was captured one hundred kilometers behind the actual fighting front by a cavalry raid of Budenny's cossacks. He was treated with the utmost severity when first captured, was stripped of all his clothing except his underwear and was forced to walk barefooted for about one hundred kilometers through the snow together with his two interpreters. When he finally arrived several days later at the headquarters of Budenny, he talked with Budenny himself and from that time on received comparatively good treatment. He was assured by the Bolshevik leaders, General Budenny, and Beke Kuhn, the former head of the Bolshevik Government in Hungary, who had been sent to take charge of the Crimea and others, that he would be immediately released. He was sent on to Moscow. Arriving at Moscow, he was brought before a man named Nortiva, who had lived a long time in the United States and who was there employed as first assistant to Martens, the Bolshevik who represented himself as the Bolshevik Ambassador to America. Nortiva accused him of being a military observer of the United States Army in the Crimea, told him that all American Red Cross men in the east of Europe were nothing but spies of the United States Secret Service, and had Kilpatrick cast for a time into the worst prison in Moscow where he had to undergo severe suffering due to starvation and vermin. When he was transferred to Andronovsky Lager, where I was then a prisoner, he was in a very feeble condition but confident that the American Government would immediately obtain his release.

Captain Kilpatrick felt then, as he feels now, that he was an American citizen traveling on an American passport, engaged in purely humanitarian work, and that there was absolutely no law of any civilized nation by which he could be held in prison. He felt sure that as a citizen of the United States and as a member of the American Red Cross the American Government would demand, and, if necessary, force that he be released immediately. During the months that followed Kilpatrick has often told me that for three hundred years his family had been citizens of the United States and that he, himself, had volunteered immediately for war service when he thought his country needed him, and that he knew his country would not fail him now. He feels very strongly, not only for himself but for other American citizens imprisoned without trial and on starvation rations in Moscow, that the American Government should go to the limit to obtain their release. He feels that this is not a question of policy but a question of the first duty of a Government to protect its citizens oppressed by a foreign power.

Every British, French and Italian citizen has been released by the Soviet Government, regardless of what crime he had been charged with. Only the citizens of the United States of America remain in the hands of the Bolsheviks. These citizens were charged with being spies of the American Government, etc. They have been given no trial, as civilized nations understand legal procedure, and are really held as hostages. For two years the French Government endeavored to obtain by civilized means the release of their citizens in prison in Russia. Finally, disgusted with the many broken promises of the Bolshevik Soviet Government, they set a certain date upon which, if all their citizens were not released from prisons, they would commence bombardment of certain Russian seaports. Upon that date, the Bolshevik Government released all French citizens. I have carefully studied the Bolshevik propaganda and their theory of government, and especially their policy of dealing with the so-called capitalistic nations of the world. They make no secret of their determination to use all means in their power of establishing communistic republics throughout the world, and on this principal they constantly, through their government newspaper organs, speak of the present American Government as one of the worst enemies of the working people of the world. In dealing with the American Government, therefore, they consider they are dealing in reality with an enemy power. I am, therefore, positive that the only argument which they will recognize for the release of American citizens will be one of force.

Both Captain Kilpatrick and I believed that if Martens and his delegation had been arrested and held as hostages in the United States they could have been successfully traded for the American citizens now imprisoned in Russia. I do not know what Russian Bolsheviks are now in America, but I feel confident if fifty Russian Bolsheviks could be held in prison in the United States on exactly the same food ration granted the American prisoners in Russia and after two weeks or one month of this imprisonment given the right of free correspondence with the Russian Government that the American prisoners could be exchanged for these hostages especially if the American Government set a definite date for the release of their prisoners with a statement that if Americans imprisoned in Russia were not released by this date they would occupy Bolshevik ports and establish a complete blockade of Russia. Personally, I have seen too much of the suffering of the Russian people to want to cut off their supplies from the outside world. I would like to see trade relations commence again with Russia regardless of the form of government in order that the millions of suffering Russian women and children should have a chance for better conditions of life. But I believe, even before this, it is the duty of the American government to go to any extent to protect its citizens, and I know that the release of these citizens cannot be obtained except by the most forcible and determined means.

I hope, sir, you will feel that you will be able to aid these citizens of our country now held prisoners by the Bolsheviks.

Believe me,
Very Sincerely yours,
MARION C. COOPER,
Kosciuszko Squadron, care of American Legation, Warsaw, Poland.

THREE ARE SHOT BY DEPUTY WHILE MAKING ARREST

(International News Service)
TRENTON, GA., June 4.—Deputy Sheriff Ward Page, an ex-service man, is held in jail here without bail today as an aftermath of his attempt to arrest Tom Stevens, a youth, during which he shot and killed Chester Daniels, 34, probably fatally wounded Douglas Daniels, 26, and seriously wounded Guss Daniels, 20. The Daniels men, brothers, interfered when Page informed Stevens in a store that he was under arrest.

Chester Daniels was shot and instantly killed when he told Stevens he need not accompany the officer. Douglas was shot down when he shouted that Page had shot his brother and Guss Daniels was wounded when he threw a bottle that struck the deputy sheriff on the head.

Douglas Daniels was rushed to a Chattanooga hospital, where his condition was said to be serious.

FIRST WHITE HOUSE OF CONFEDERACY IS RECEIVED BY KILBY; A SOUTHERN SHRINE

Building is Formally Accepted by the State of Ala-

ONE OF THE GREATEST PARADES IN STATE HELD

Lasting Monument to "Lost Cause" in Possession of the People

By FRED H. GORMLEY.
MONTGOMERY, ALA., June 4. (Special).—The First White House of the Confederacy, where plans for the southern campaign against the encroachment of those who for the time were regarded as enemies were completed and where the brains of the South were gathered in defense of Southern ideals, came into the possession of the people of the South Friday afternoon when the building was formally accepted by the state of Alabama through Governor Thomas E. Kilby and by him dedicated as a Southern Shrine and a lasting monument to the cause which was lost after four years of battle but which no Southerner has yet admitted was not just.

It was a day of events, a day through which ideal conditions prevailed from morning until night. The day started warm if not sultry, but shortly after noon a southern shower fell and when the parade started at 4:30 p. m. cool breezes were blowing, the heat had disappeared and all were in the proper humor for the celebration.

Lookers-on pronounced the parade one of the greatest ever held in Montgomery. In the line of march were all civic organizations, all military organizations, boy scouts, civilian organizations, religious organizations and hundreds of individuals. The parade was led through Commerce street and up historic Dexter avenue to the capitol, the first capitol of the Confederacy, by the military band of Camp Benning, Ga. In the parade also were Montgomery bands and drum corps. The paraders passed in front of the capitol and to the south wing where the speakers' stand had been erected.

NEWSPAPER MAN KILLED BY PLANE

(International News Service)
BIRMINGHAM, June 4.—V. O. Hodges, assistant city editor of The Birmingham News, died about ten o'clock last night as a result of injuries sustained when an aeroplane in which he had been to Jasper, crashed to the ground a few miles west of this city.

Inferior gasoline obtained at Cardova was blamed by the pilot, Lieutenant Douglas Davis, who was also slightly injured.

The motor of the plane began acting queerly when Thomas Station, on the western outskirts of the city, was reached and the pilot attempted a landing in a ploughed field. One wing sideswiped a tree and the plane crashed 50 feet to the ground, a heavy gas tank falling upon Hodges and crushing his chest.

Hodges was formerly employed by The News-Scimitar of Memphis and has a wife and other relatives in Lincoln, Neb., his home.

POLES OPEN HEAVY FIRING ON FRONT

BERLIN, June 4.—Polish insurgents have opened heavy firing all along the Silesian front, following a brief lull in the hostilities, said advices from Oppeln today. The Poles have Turawa from the German volunteers, who evacuated the town after losing ten men, killed and wounded. Polish armored trains are bombarding Slawa.

BIG DAMAGE DONE TO PROPERTY AS RIVERS OVERFLOW

Unprecedented Rains and Numerous Cloudbursts Sweep Several Colorado Cities

PUEBLO'S BUSINESS
SECTION UNDER WATER

Fires Break Out in City Adding Chaotic State

DENVER, COLO., June 4.—Four lives are known to have been lost, homes swept away, railway tracks washed away, and property damage mounting into the millions, has resulted today from the floods caused by unprecedented rains and numerous cloudbursts in various parts of Colorado.

Thousands of acres of rich farming land have been inundated. Pueblo is completely cut off from outside communication. Latest reports from the city at midnight said the business district was several feet under water. Police and volunteer national guardsmen were patrolling the streets and aiding hundreds of families in seeking safety from homes that were inundated by waters from the Arkansas and Fountain rivers. Numerous fires were raging in the city, but it was believed the heavy rainfall since midnight would aid in quenching the flames. Property damage in Pueblo was placed as high as $2,500,000.

Two persons were known to have been drowned and fear was expressed that several others had lost their lives. Mrs. Carl Willard and a baby were drowned when the waters of Pawnee creek overtook them in Sterling.

Hundreds of autoists were marooned in the vicinity of Boulder and many homes have been destroyed. In Loveland, the citizens worked all night to save the town from destruction when high waters from irrigation ditches swept through the city streets. The heavy rains continued early today and it was expected further reports of damage would be received when communication was restored.

MORGAN KIWANIS ARE ELIMINATED IN HUNT FOR PENNANT

The Morgan Kiwanians were eliminated yesterday afternoon in their first clash in the chase for the pennant in the Kiwanis league for Alabama. The local ball tossers encountered a series of exceptionally hard luck and lost to Huntsville in Huntsville 14 to 12.

The game seemed to have been "jynxed" from the start. It was scheduled originally for last week and was postponed until this. It was thought arrangements had been perfected to play a double-header on the Huntsville diamond yesterday, the Night Hawks of that city also playing Albertville. It was planned for the Kiwanis game to be played first, but in some manner the other teams got started first.

Expecting the Hawk-Albertville contest to be over by five o'clock, the Kiwanis teams awaited that hour, only to find Albertville and Huntsville tied up when it arrived. Hurriedly preparations were made to play the contest on another field which was in poor condition and accounted for many of the errors.

Batteries for Morgan Kiwanis: Rankin, Shaleford and Garnett and Hamil. For Huntsville Barrow and Webster.

Couple Killed on Front Porch of Their Home

BIRMINGHAM, June 4.—Mystery surrounds double murder at Ensley, a suburb, which occurred about 9 o'clock last night. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weston, a young couple, were seated upon a front porch where they lived when two shots were heard by other residents of the house.

Investigation disclosed the two bodies bleeding on the porch. Both were dead. Edward Crenshaw, a Syrian mechanic, is held in the county jail charged with the murder. He denies any knowledge of the crime.

A man resembling him, it was said, was seen running from the house after the shooting. An automatic pistol with five empty clips in the chamber were found on him when arrested.

GREAT BRITAIN TO GO TO WAR AGAINST TURKEY IS REPORT

LONDON, May 4.—Great Britain is threatening to go to war against the Turkish nationalists in Asia Minor.

Preparations are already underway according to reports in circulation here. A British fleet is being assembled at Malta. The Daily Express stated today. It is intended for co-operation with the Greek army now facing the Turkish nationalists in Anatolia.

It is well known that Premier Lloyd George is friendly toward Greece and is bitterly hostile toward the Turkish nationalists, it was pointed out today. A dispatch from Constantinople said that the Turkish nationalist government already considers itself in a state of war against Great Britain.

LONDON, June 4.—Great Britain's labor war grew to bigger proportions today when between 300,000 and 500,000 operatives in the cotton and weaving mills in the Manchester district quit work as the result of a dispute over wages. The mill owners ordered a 30 per cent wage reduction. The operatives threatened to strike. Conferences were begun to attempt the compromise but broke up last night without result.

The deadlock in the national coal strike remains unbroken, following the rejection of the government's latest proposal by the Federation of Miners yesterday.

SHERIFF STRENGTH FOUND NOT GUILTY

MONTGOMERY, ALA., June 4.—Sheriff Strength of Elmore county, was declared not guilty by the Alabama Supreme court this morning in the impeachment proceedings entered by the state.

Chief Justice Anderson, Justices McClellan, Sayre and Miller assenting in the opinion and Justices Somerville, Gardner and Thomas dissenting.

Sheriff Strength was accused of being drunk and negligent in his duties and of conduct unbecoming an officer and gentlemen.

President is Off for a Week-End

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The President and Mrs. Harding left Washington this morning for a week-end motor trip to Valley Forge Pa., where they will be the guests of Senator and Mrs. Philander C. Knox at Valley Forge Farm.

The trip was made in one of the white house limousines. They were accompanied by Senator Knox, General Sawyer, the Harding physician, and George B. Christian, secretary.

A hamper, containing a picnic lunch was placed in the car and it was planned to have a presidential picnic on the banks of the Susquehanna river at noon time.

SHEFFIELD DECLINES TO PERMIT UMPIRE FOR BASES, TWINS PROTEST CONTEST

League Standing Getting Scrambled as Result of Mix-Ups

CLARK'S UMPIRING IS BADLY "OFF COLOR"

President Cowie Appealed to to Straighten Out Muddle
at Sheffield

The standing of the Alabama-Tennessee league was scrambled this morning as the result of two consecutive protested games played in Sheffield between the Tri-Cities and Umpire Clark and the Albany-Decatur contingent.

After Manager McDuff had given notice of a protest of yesterday's game, before the first ball was thrown the Tri-Cities and the Twins battled to a 9-7 decision in favor of the former before a flock of fans, many of them from here.

McDuff's protest more than likely will be upheld by the league authorities and it is expected that yesterday's contest will be thrown out and the teams ordered to replay the game. The protest came after the Sheffield authorities had declined to permit Umpire Steadman to act with Umpire Clark, notwithstanding the fact that Steadman had been duly appointed by President Cowie, had been ordered to Sheffield to work and had been instructed to umpire with Clark in Friday and Saturday's games.

Fans Disappointed.
Local fans were disappointed over the result of the game. Naturally so, but the principal complaint of the Albany-Decatur fans who journeyed to the Tri-Cities yesterday, as well as the players was the class of umpiring given.

The game yesterday was marked principally by arguments with the umpire, but Craddock contributed a sensational catch behind third base as the closing feature.

The score follows: R. H. E.
Sheffield 031 020 03—9 13 6
A-D 010 004 110—7 11 5
Batteries: Blissett and Curtis; Russell and Johnston.

COWIE TALKS.

COLUMBIA, Penn., June 4.—President Gordon Cowie, of the Alabama-Tennessee league, this afternoon announced that a special meeting of the officers and directors of the league has been called for Friday, next, to be held in Sheffield to take action on the games protested by Manager Gordon McDuff, of the Albany-Decatur team as a result of the Sheffield muddle.

President Cowie stated that he did send R. L. Steadman, to Sheffield to act in conjunction with Umpire Clark in Friday's game, which was protested by McDuff on the ground that Sheffield declined to permit Steadman to officiate.

President Cowie announced that he had employed two new umpires to replace Clark and Ware, beginning Monday, to act until the league officials can straighten out the umpire tangle.

These two umpires are not natives of this section. Mr. Cowie said. As a result of the situation in Sheffield, Umpire Ware was transferred there to officiate today and Clark was sent to Columbia to work there.

"It is rather a ticklish situation," Mr. Cowie said, "and I do not care to assume the whole responsibility. Therefore I have called a special meeting of the league directors to be held Friday next in Sheffield when the whole matter of the umpiring staff will be taken up and decided upon, as well as the protested games."

DANGEROUS SUGGESTION
MADE BY AN EX-SENATOR

Former Senator Joseph W. Bailey has started a paper in Texas called The Democratic Review. In the current issue of his publication Editor Bailey makes a suggestion which appears somewhat dangerous, and in defiance of the law of conservation, a law which Americans have found valuable. Bailey's suggestion is in connection with the problem of what to do with the low grade cotton. He says he has studied the matter from every angle, in an effort to find a plan for improving the market. His conclusion is that the only way to give the producer a profit on present stocks is to burn all low grade cotton.

On this point Bailey's paper says:

This low grade cotton could not, if forced on the market now, be sold for $10 a bale, and the longer we keep it, the less it will be worth; because cotton of that grade constantly deteriorates. The destruction of it, therefore, would be a loss of $40,000,000; but with that 4,000,000 bales removed from the market, the value of the remaining 6,000,000 bales would be increased more than $100,000,000, thus netting a clear profit of more than $60,000,000 on the operation. Nor is that all. If those 4,000,000 bales of low grade cotton are not disposed of in some way they will affect the price of next year's crop almost as injuriously as they have affected the price of this year's crop, and make a deplorable situation still more deplorable.

The Montgomery Advertiser holds that such destruction is not only morally unjustifiable, but is impracticable. The Advertiser says:

Commenting upon the novel suggestion, the Memphis Commercial Appeal expresses the opinion that there can be little doubt about the logic of the Review's plan; but "like most suggestions based upon averages, it at once encounters a multitude of difficulties which are perfectly apparent." One such is the prevalent conviction "that such a destruction of a bountiful gift from the hand of nature would be an act of wantonness, not to say baseness."

Such destruction not only would be regarded as morally unjustifiable, but it is impracticable. A certain percentage of farmers might be persuaded to stick a torch to their low-grade cotton, but it is certain that another certain percentage would not destroy.

To burn the low grade cotton in the South when Europe is begging for an opportunity to buy it, and is seeking means to pay for it, would be a crime. A much better plan would be to arrange a foreign sale for the low grade cotton in Europe by extending a line of credit to European mills, to enable them to take the surplus stocks. This is the purpose of the Export Financing associations already organized in the South and east, and it is a business plan and one that will add to the income of the cotton grower. To burn any useful product is wrong, and to advise such an act is wrong.—Anniston Star.

SHIPPING SWEET
SPUDS TO ENGLAND

Years ago the Albemarle pippins of Virginia were all commandeered to be shipped to England, they attracted attention first over there on account of a monarch who had received a gift of some fine apples of that brand liked them and made no bones about setting the royal seal on a lot of free publicity for them. There is no telling how much good toward healing up the old wounds of the seventy-sixes and so forth those pippins did; how much of stronger cement was applied to the relations of the two great English-speaking peoples by those luscious apples. Now another incident has happened. The Morning News told the other day in a paragraph about the shipment of sweet potatoes from Georgia to London. From Atlanta comes this statement: "Results of a test of a shipment of special cured sweet potatoes from Montezuma, Ga., to London, England, were given out by the headquarters of the Georgia Farm Bureau Saturday and it was declared that within a short while shipments of Georgia raised sweet potatoes will be moving regularly to England and other European ports. The potatoes were cured in a special kiln-dried method under the auspices of the state College of Agriculture and the United States Bureau of Markets. More than fifty bushels were shipped on March 7 and on April 1 they were retailing in London at 10 cents per pound." Georgia has been constructing sweet potato curing and storing houses; she can keep sweet potatoes all the year round now. When an untoward incident happens like that Harvey break, South Georgia can immediately ship a carload or two of delicious sugar spuds to England and sweeten over the situation. The Morning News of the past month has had a steady stream of stories and editorial comment on the variety of new things Georgia is shipping, shipping by car-lots and train loads, shipments to foreign countries. Goats to Denmark, bees to Canada and scores of things every month in the year to all points of the United States. Sweet potatoes to London is another one you may add to your list—and watch for still another desirable commodity to come into notice next month.—Savannah News.

FARMER HAS RIGHT TO KNOW
WHERE THE DIFFERENCE GOES

Why—and how—are the prices of foodstuffs tripled between the farmer and the city consumer?

Who gets the difference—and for what? What share of this increase is due to necessary costs of distribution, to fair profits by middlemen and what part represents useless costs and excessive profits?

These questions, often raised but never settled to the satisfaction of either farmer, consumer or dealer, may find an authoritative answer if the special congressional commission for agricultural inquiry, proposed by a concurrent resolution now pending in congress, is approved.

The resolution has been favorably reported by the senate committee on agriculture and approved by the rules committee of the House.

Its passage, declares C. S. Barrett, chairman of the National Board of Farm Organizations, will be assured if producers and consumers will unite in a demand on congress for its passage.

"The farmer ought to know why he only collects about 38 cents for every dollar his products bring when sold to the ultimate consumer," says Barrett. "On the other hand, the consumer ought to know why he has to pay on the average nearly three times as much as the farmer receives."

The creation of this commission would give some reason to believe the answer would be found. If the commission be in earnest and its investigation be thorough, it should be able to put its finger on the persons and institutions that have been collecting unjustly.—Anniston Star.

TALKING WITH HIS MOUTH

No one exploited the "two proud to fight" slip more persistently and venomously than Ambassador Harvey. This storm of criticism, now raging in many papers throughout the country, of the ambassador's own ineptitude in speech may teach him something valuable. When he said that the American soldiers were sent into the war only to "save" their own country and that even then they were sent into it "reluctantly and laggardly," and that all our armies did was to help "shorten" the war, he could not have intended the slur upon our armies and people which can be actually read into his utterance. For it is of course an outrageous belittling of the American people to say or even to insinuate that they sent their armies "most reluctantly" to battle when the job clearly was to "save" this country. It seems almost like the vengeance of the gods that Col. Harvey, after four years of jeering at "too proud to fight" as a slander on America should have fallen into such a bit in his first public address abroad as the ambassador of the United States. Is there no insurance to be taken out by statesmen and diplomats against the misadventures of oratory?—Springfield Republican.

A TRAIN OF THOUGHTS FOR SABBATH AND OTHER DAYS

By J. E. Blair

Unity in faith is regarded as a consumation devoutly to be wished. In error, we often regard such an accomplishment as distant in point of time, and remote as to possibility. In short, we do not believe there will ever be "unity of faith." The truth about the matter is: Among people who have a LIVING faith, there is UNITY here and now. We do not have to wait for it. By way of illustration, those who know, tell us that the mountains we see, and the ocean depths we imagine, in relation to the great big earth, are no greater than the roughness of the orange, surface, as compared with the bulk of the orange. In other words people who can see things in a big way, have very few "faith" difficulties. Those who look through other people's eyes, (or try to), those who see through a narrow opening, and whose vision is through the smoked glass of ignorance and superstition, are always in some silly row over what they "say" they believe! Those who know the fundamentals of the great Christian creeds, know that most of the so called "sect differences" are trifling as compared to the truths on which all the sects and churches are agreed. So let us conclude that lack of faith, is not due to a different set of facts, but due to different kinds of people! It is not what you know, or think you know about the Bible, or any other great book of truth, but what you are, that determines your faith or lack of it. To recapitulate some of the important articles of faith held by all—There is the faith on one God. No intelligent persons on earth differ on this point. The unity of thought on this tenet of faith, has developed great power among the members of the human race to accomplish great results, due to their feeling of a common responsibility to a common Father.

People who realize fully that they must all stand or fall before the "judgment seat of Christ" will not remain very far apart in faith and practice. Another great unity of faith is the one in a "Personal God." So important was this faith considered, by the founders of our government, that our constitution is said to preclude from our highest office any person who does not "believe in a Supreme Being." Another belief held in common, is that men do not create, but that they are the agents of one great Creator. Another common faith is, that we do not originate thoughts, but that we are expected (at least) to think God's thoughts after Him. People who understand this kind of faith, never get excited over the dictates of science, churches, or brilliant agnostics like Col. Ingersoll was. All believe that there is a moral order thought out by God, long before the mankind came upon the earth. All believe that there is an intellectual plan already made—but mind you no body has "stole those plans" or got them in any other way. Truth is half revealed and half concealed, as Tennyson said. Every Christian believes, that in Christ we have a "realized ideal"—a living example. We believe that we are not left to construct our ideals out of our imaginations, or to pick up piece meal virtues from the lives of mere men, however good and great they may be, but that in Jesus Christ, we have the fullness of the Godhead, and that by a living faith in Him, we will be inspired by Him, and that He will become for us what he said He would—"A well of water springing up unto everlasting life."

BELL MADE TOO MUCH NOISE

Invention of the Telephone Evidently Was Not by Any Means a Quiet Affair.

The landlady couldn't stand it any longer, and the lodgers threatened to leave unless the racket stopped. Alexander Graham Bell was the cause of the trouble. He had fixed up a contraption in his bedroom and a duplicate in the room of his accomplice, Thomas A. Watson. A wire went out of the window and connected the two machines.

These two machines, according to young Bell, were first models of a revolutionary invention, the telephone. "I don't care what it is," said the landlady, "but if you two boys don't stop yelling your heads off, into those boxes, you'll have to pack your trunks and get out."

This episode of the angry landlady happened years ago in a cheap lodging house in Boston.

The Western Union Telegraph company offered Bell $100,000 for all his patents. Bell, with vision, realized that he had a fortune within grasp and rejected the offer. He and Watson went around the country, delivering lectures, and with the proceeds financed themselves.

Today there is a telephone to every nine Americans and more than 24,000,000 miles of wire in the Bell telephone lines.

Old Estates in America.

The commonest real estate phenomenon in England is the rarest one in America; namely, long-handed-down holdings still belonging to descendants of the ancient owners.

A certain William Douglas, born (where else than) in Scotland, came to this country in 1623 and settled near New London, Connecticut, where he built a house. The homestead has been in the hands of his offspring ever since. What is believed to be the first English settlement within the present boundaries of New York state, Gardiner's Island, at the eastern end of Long Island sound, is still owned by descendants of the original owner of the island, Lion Gardiner, who purchased it in 1639 from the Indians. The present home of the Gardiners was built in 1774 and has been exteriorly little altered since.

Toughest American Wood.

The toughest American wood is that of the Osage orange, which is not an orange at all, but belongs to the nettle family. This has been proved by a series of tests made by the United States Forest Service, but the Indians knew it before the coming of the white man, and it was known to them as the bow tree, because they used it for making their finest bows. Some idea of its strength may be had from the report made not long ago by the forest service, which shows that a block thirty inches long and two inches in cross-section when bent breaks under a stress of 13,600 pounds, its nearest rival being a variety of the hickory called monkey-nut. When bent by the impact of a 100-pound hammer, it stands a stress of 15,520.

BIRTH

Born to Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Clark a son Paul Oliver June 1st.

Ash Leads in Tennis. Good tennis rackets require choice woods. Strength is furnished by the bentwood rim or bow, which is usually ash or hickory, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. Elm is serviceable but its appearance is not regarded as equal to that of hickory or ash, and appearance counts for much.

Accident Statistics.

An American physician who has collected a mass of statistics regarding serious accidents on railways, in mines and factories, has put it on record that the dangerous period of the month is from the twentieth to the twenty-sixth. He declares that nearly half the bad accidents of the whole month occur during those seven days.

Names Based on Occupations.

Where a man lived and what he did for a living were two very profitable sources from which was derived the name which eventually stuck to that family, even although they might change their trade or live in some other part of the country.

Significance of Dream of Pump.

To dream of a pump signifies that you may with study become a great musician, artist or actor, as your inclination leads you; development is all you require; you have genius. To pump water from a well signifies that you will learn something to your advantage. But if milk comes from the pump it signifies unexpected wealth. If wine or whisky, it denotes much happiness and good fellowship.

Further Ablution Unnecessary.

Justin was told to go to the bathroom and wash. After he was through his mother asked him if he had washed his neck and ears. "Why, mamma," he cried, "there is no school today."

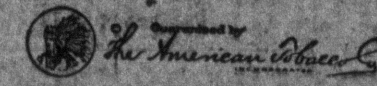

When food gives you distress you need a dose of Prickley Ash Bitters to relieve the stomach and help digestion. It is a man's remedy for the liver and bowels. Price $1.25 per bottle. Sold by all druggists.—Adv.

Tonight and Monday Great Bargains In Suits and Dresses

We are offering any Ladies' Suit or Dress in our house Saturday and Monday for $19.98. Some of these garments cost us twice and three times this amount, but this is your gain and our loss.

We would have you to remember that when you see our special announcements it means something to you if you will only take advantage of these offerings. They are different from the big sales. Sales are expensive in many ways, we have tried them. Someone has got to pay the freight so to speak. They are really more expensive than a few charge accounts that some people make so much fuss about.

Small Things Cause Discord.
It isn't the long journey on foot that makes you footsore, but it is the grain of wheat in your shoe or the wrinkle in your sock. It isn't the thousand miles your auto runs that wears it out, but the grain of sand in the bearings. Little things make discord. Little things disturb our happiness.

MOTHER GAVE IT

Virginia Lady Suffered With Aches and Pains Until Mother began Giving Her Cardui.

Dublin, Va.—Miss Mary Alice Huggert residing on Route 2, near here, recently told a visitor of her interesting experience with Cardui. Miss Huggert said: "I had been suffering for some time with painful... I was pale, didn't feel like going. Would just drag around, and couldn't rest to do any good. I would suffer once a month with my back, sides and head. My limbs would ache and I didn't know what to do, but I knew I must do something, for I didn't get well by letting it run on."

"My mother is a believer in Cardui, for she saw what it did for others as well as herself, so she began giving it to me."

"It wasn't long before I saw a change. It was just what I needed. It regulated me. I began to eat and sleep, and the pain stopped."

"Cardui is without doubt the best female tonic made, and I am glad I can recommend it to others."

If suffering with symptoms such as Miss Huggert mentions, or other ailments peculiar to women, why not be like Cardui at once? Its merit is well established by successful use for more than 40 years.

Easy Method of Catching Fish.
Easy methods of catching fish have been invented by the natives of Guam, where the pulpy fruit of a native tree is inclosed in a bag and sunk into deep water where the big fish are. The fruit juice is sought by the fish and stupefies them, so they float to the surface and are taken easily in large numbers.

COTTON MARKET
OPENING IS EASIER

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 4.—The cotton market opened easier today because of the announcement of the collapse of the negotiations to settle the wage dispute in the English cotton mills. Prices dropped ten to thirteen points at the start, after which buying developed on cables intimating that an adjustment of the British coal strike was near. Slight rallies followed.

Liverpool, the South and Wall street sold at the outset. The demand came mostly from local shorts.

The Story of
Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE
XXXIV.—KANSAS

WAY back in 1541 Coronado, the Spanish explorer, is reported to have penetrated to Kansas in search of a mythical wealthy Indian tribe. It was not again visited, however, by white men until nearly one hundred and seventy-five years later, when the French in Louisiana sent out an expedition to investigate the remote portions of what was then their territory. Most of the present State of Kansas was a part of the Louisiana Purchase and so passed from French hands to the United States in 1803. A small additional part was later added in 1850, being ceded by Texas.

The Lewis and Clark party traversed this region in 1804, and Lieutenant Pike passed through Kansas two years later. Kansas history really becomes interesting in the middle of the century, when the slavery agitation gave it the name of "Bleeding Kansas." It had been an unorganized territory since 1821, at which time it had been considered a portion of the Territory of Missouri. According to the Missouri Compromise, if Kansas became a state it could not be a slavery state. The opposition of the South was so strong the Kansas-Nebraska bill was passed in 1854, making this vital question optional with the inhabitants in each proposed state. With this law in force, the two factions actively started colonizing Kansas. Immigrants from the slave states of Arkansas and Missouri immediately founded Leavenworth. The Massachusetts Emigrant Aid society sent out anti-slavery settlers, who founded Lawrence, Topeka and other towns. Conflict between these two parties broke out at once, and it was only put down by the intervention of federal troops. The Northern settlers came in such numbers that they soon were in the majority and in 1861 an anti-slavery constitution was adopted, so Kansas was admitted to the Union in that year.

The political dispute over Kansas was the cause of the formation of the present Republican party. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Greatness in Every One's Makeup.
You were made to master unfavorable conditions, made to rise above what others regard as misfortunes, handicaps and stumbling-blocks. There is something in you that is bigger than any fate or destiny, anything which is trying to do you; something in you that is mightier than the influence of others which is trying to keep you back. There is something in you that can laugh at fate.—Orison Swett Marden.

Then the Club Adjourned.
Some one told a good dog story and the inevitable better one followed. "We had a cat at home," related the quiet man in the corner, "which was fond of playing with the wife's ball of wool. One day the cat swallowed it and some months later when kittens were born they were all wearing jumpers."

Extra, Ump Afire,
How's That One?

Fans attending yesterday's contest in Sheffield were treated to one of the most unusual sights in baseball history. Umpire Clark, a devotee of Lady Nicotine, who takes advantages of changing sides to smoke a ciggie, dropped a hot ash or something between his white shirt and his breast protector, setting himself afire. Players rushed to him and put him out.

SAW STEAMBOAT AS ENEMY

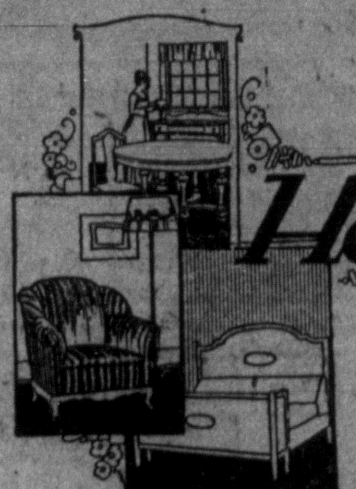

Sailors and Fishermen Alike Dreaded Power of Which They Had No Comprehension.

When Fulton's steamboat, the Clermont, made her maiden trip on the Hudson river in 1807, it frightened more persons than it interested. Fishermen and small boatmen to a man believed it to be some horrible monster, and headed for shore as fast as they could go, and once on land ran at top speed into woods and fields to hide. Crews of larger sailing ships were no better, and many a schooner was deserted and left to drift down stream as the snorting, clanking, smoke-tossing Clermont appeared.

Later it was made known along the river what the thing was, and there at once arose a great wave of hate fomented by boatmen who saw their business ruined, and by fishermen who were sure the noise of the steamboat would drive the fish to sea. Added to them were hundreds of religious fanatics who declared the boat was the work of the devil and a "flying in the face of God." So acute did this dislike grow that attempt after attempt was made by large sailing ships to run the Clermont down. The state legislature had to pass a special law making it a criminal offense to attempt to injure the boat.

Prehistoric Harp.

No other musical instrument has persisted through the ages like the harp. Prehistoric of origin, it was popular at the court of King Solomon the Wise, and long before his day was played before the Pharaohs of ancient Egypt.

BRIDES

your attention!

We want to direct it to a matter of, possibly, life-long interest. No, we are not exaggerating, not one bit—it is a matter of life-long interest. Devote a few minutes to it now.

Without further preamble—it is about the rugs and furniture you are going to put in the home you are about to make—important, don't you think, and a matter worthy of your best judgment and care.

We are not going to talk much about prices—we seldom do; we are not going to talk style, not much about it; we are not even insisting upon quality—such an important element.

What we want to impress upon you is the wisdom of shopping with us so that you may learn, on acknowledged authority, what are right prices, what is correct style and see the impress of quality upon both rugs and furniture—we'll probably sell you.

As a matter of fact, won't you feel an added pride if all your rugs and furniture come from MORGAN'S?

Congratulate yourself on the price proposition—it's a good time to buy. Rugs, the best of weaves, are one-third (33 1-3%) less than they were a few months ago. We are selling the best furniture made one-fifth (20%) under current retail prices.

Now about paying—too bad there has to be "paying." *Weddings are costly affairs—trousseaux, receptions, honeymoon trips, all cost money. Unfortunately sometimes the money is almost gone before the home-furnishings are bought. Don't worry, don't skimp in this important matter—we have a Club Plan that gives you a year in which to pay. Trousseau wear out, receptions and honeymoon trips become only memories, but your furniture and rugs live on with you.

PICNIC AT GARTH SPRINGS

A picnic which afforded much merriment and pleasure was that of Thursday, June 2nd, when the Women's Missionary Society of Ninth street M. E. church, with a few friends, motored out to Garth Springs. At 12:30 p. m. a most elaborately prepared spread was enjoyed by fifty six persons. Fishing and games were the amusements featured during the afternoon.

A STORM PARTY.

A pleasant evening was spent Thursday when about twenty gathered at the home of Vera Motes to storm Mr. and Mrs. William Collier, who have lately gone to house keeping. Games and music were enjoyed throughout the evening. Those present were: Misses Geora Gaxson, Stella Carl Estelle, Reaves, Lois Bowling, Edith Butler, Alma Pepper, Bertha Harlough, Margaret Thompson, Vera Motes and Messrs Mitchell, Owen, Lee Thompson, Oran Davidson, Leldon Sively, Robert McGrew, Robert Moore, Ernest Holbrook, Luther Landers, Johnnie Hodges.

WITHOUT AID OF MACHINERY

Laborious Methods of Getting "Flow" of Oil From the Rich Wells of Mandalay.

Oil lands above Mandalay are so rich and the oil so close to the surface that you see here and there among the scaffolding forest of steaming drilling derricks a hole, hand dug and yawning, and at its mouth a bright, high cross-pole carrying a creaking wooden wheel. A long rope attached to a cumbersome bucket plays over this wheel as four or five coolie women "haul away" over a foot-hardened path fifty yards long. Back and forth, in and away, they trudge in the baking Burman sunshine; up, and down goes the oil bucket; and, by degrees, fuller and fuller get the big round earthen pots beside the well that holds the day's "flow."

These wells are dug by suspended coolies, who loosen and pass up the debris fifty, eighty, a hundred feet from the soft sandstone earth and shale. It goes on, antlike, with incredible labor for almost a microscopic wage. Many of them, however, like the pitcher of Phillimon and Baucis, year after year, produce the rich black liquid, the heritage of the family who owned the spot. Compare these methods, time-honored but time outworn, with those of California and Texas oil fields, where machinery takes care of every minute process, and muscle has more joyful tasks to do. —Christian Science Monitor.

His Awful Thought.

Warren was an only child, and there being no boys in the neighborhood he was obliged to play with girls, of whom there were a number. One day he appealed to his father to move, saying: "Dad, if you don't get me away from here and let me play with boys, I am afraid I'll grow up to be a regular sis."

Railroad Briefs About Town

In a series of statements made public at the shops in railroad shops and the road Director Pilling discusses the accidents on the system.

One accident described as follows: While repairing cars, splinter stuck a finger," quite likely had reference to a mishap of J. A. Posey of the local freight repair yards. Mr. Posey's splinter scratch, was thought to be trifling but finally blood poisoning set in. Mr. Posey recovered but not until his life was despaired of and after had been sick a long time.

Two lists are given by Mr. Pilling, one for the shop men and the other for road men. Many of the accidents, according to the report were due to the slipping of wrenches. Four were recorded as due to stepping on nails; three due to foreign matter in the eyes; 2 due to glancing of hammers. One of the men who had a wrench to split, fell and broke his arm. Among the road men the majority of the accidents were due to faulty work in making couplings. Jumping from moving trains, and throwing switches caused a number of accidents.

P. T. Neely of the Round House has been off two weeks but is reported better.

T. B. Huddleston, took a number of Albany ball enthusiasts, over to Sheffield, yesterday in his auto.

R. D. Durrett, of the Round House, is off for a few days on business in Tennessee.

Robert Beachman, was off duty Friday.

S. O. Nelson is back on his job, after an illness of two weeks.

R. D. Nelson, of the round house, was a visitor to relatives in Limestone County on Decoration Day.

Dunbar Rogers began serving his time as a Machinist's apprentice, June 1st.

Allen Dyer, a helper in the round house has transferred to the Machine shop.

P. H. Hutchens, for a long time a faithful employe of the shops, is reported to have been pensioned, and to have given up his position as packing ring machinist. For down right nerve, and ability to work under trying conditions, Mr. Hutchens, has been passed the "cake" on a silver plate, by the entire force of the machine shop. He is a member of Usona Lodge No. 822, and entitled to a retiring card as he is near seventy years old at the time of quitting his job.

Frank Vaughn, of the car department, leaves today for a visit to Birmingham. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Vaughn.

The funeral of Capt. James D. McNabb, on Thursday, for over a score of years foreman on the machine side in the machine shop, was attended by a large company of his old friends in McNabb, as he was known to all endeared himself by his patience and consideration. He said some years before his death, that he took a firm resolve, when becoming foreman, that he got so he could not do unto others as he would be done by he would want to quit and try something else. As a token of their affection for their former foreman, the employees presented a handsome floral offering, to be placed on his bier, and a large contingent of the Machinist's Union, marched in a body, as an escort when he was laid to rest in the city cemetery.

Robert Donaldson, who was one of the machinists in the lay off of some months ago has been recalled to his old job.

STRENGTH OF ORANG-OUTANG

If Properly Braced, It Is Said the Animal "Can Easily Bend Almost Anything."

The strength of a full-grown orang-outang is enormous. I have seen one bend a 1-inch steel bar as though it were made of rubber. If he can brace himself properly, with plenty of room to exert his entire strength, he can bend almost anything; but between bending a bar and breaking a rope by pulling, there is a great deal of difference. A ratian rope will hold him, though a simple menagerie cage may not give him any more trouble than a paper hoop.

The orang-outang, or "wild man," as the name means in Malay, is largely in his arms. The arms of a mias—the breed that we were after in Borneo—measure ten feet or more from tip to tip. The mias type, which is next in size to the gorilla, is somewhat larger than the ordinary breed. It is distinguished by a darker color and by folds of skin at each side of the face. Its body, from shoulders to hips, is about the size of a man's. It has short, undeveloped legs, long fingers and thumbs that are mere stubs.

An orang-outang never travels on the ground when he can swing from tree to tree, and, since there are very few open spaces in the jungle, he seldom reaches ground except when he goes down to get something. He can swing incredible distances, hurtling through the air and catching branches with perfect accuracy.

Orang-outangs usually live in colonies numbering from 40 to 60, and the largest and most powerful is chief. They make their homes on platforms in the branches of trees and they build the platforms by breaking off limbs and putting them crosswise. In mating season the male and female live together, but the couples separate after the young are born. The mother takes care of them and the father goes off about his business.—Charles Mayer in Asia Magazine.

INSECTS MAKE LEAVES 'WALK'

Queer Creatures Responsible for Odd Belief That Has Long Been Held in Australia.

There are some strange leaves in Australia which the people used to think could walk alone. Whenever there came a gust of wind these queer leaves blew off in a perfect shower. As leaves generally do, they turned over and over, and rested upon the ground. Then they would seem to crawl toward the trunk of the tree from which they fell. Since that time it has been found that these leaves, as they were thought to be, were real insects and lived upon those very trees. Their bodies are thin and flat and their wings veined, just like a leaf. If they are disturbed their legs, which are folded away under their bodies, leave their whole shape exactly like the leaf of a tree, with stem and all. Bright green in the summer, these singular little insects, chameleon-like, slowly change their color to a dingy brown, just like a leaf that has been frosted. It is strange that, with wings, they do not fly, but rather walk or crawl along the ground.

Queen Liked Her Ale Strong.

The City of London Brewery company, whose premises are offered for sale, claim to be the only brewery in the city of London existing from the time of Queen Elizabeth, and it is quite possible that the queen occasionally sampled their brew. Elizabeth was a specialist in ale. She liked it strong, as witness the plaintive note her host, the earl of Leicester, sent to Lord Burleigh: "There is not one drop of good drink for her here. We were fain to send to London and Kenilworth and divers other places where ale was; her own beer was so strong that there was no man able to drink it."

Testing Material in Cloth.

Mixtures of cotton and wool may be tested by raveling a bit of cloth and burning two of the threads, one running with the selvedge, the other crosswise to it. The cotton thread burns quickly with a flame and smells like wood; wool chars slowly without a flame and smells like burning hair. Shoddy, or remanufactured wool, is often used with wool. This can be detected by raveling out a bit of the material, when short broken fibers may be seen. In general, a woolen material which has cotton in it will become more wrinkled when wet than all-wool goods.

Fish are believed to have a keen sense of smell.

We make the prices to suit the times. Newsom's Supply Store, 515 West Market street, Decatur.—Adv. 2-3t

Special Offer

to present

HOOSIER Owners

If you have had your HOOSIER ten years or more, here is our proposition. We will allow you the full price you paid for your HOOSIER when new, less $1.00 for each year you have had it.

This is possible because there is less depreciation in the value of the HOOSIER than any other household device. An old HOOSIER is worth more than many new cabinets.

Think of it—this offer means that when you trade in your old HOOSIER you will have paid only $1.00 a year for the use you had out of the HOOSIER.

Have you ever heard of a more liberal offer.

Attention! Ask the Soda Fountain Clerk: "Is It Carbonated Ice Cream?"

If the clerk can't serve you "carbonated" ice cream, tell him that you must have it. Carbonated ice cream is the only ice cream that is always safe, because it is infinitely purer than any other ice cream made. We spend enormous amounts every year to manufacture this ice cream by the Health-made carbonating process to make it the purest, hence the safest ice cream.

SIDEBOTTOM ICE CREAM

Most good dealers who sell ice cream realize that our ice cream is not only the best, but the purest made. Carbonating makes it so. Instead of freezing it in ordinary air we freeze it in a sterile atmosphere 100 per cent pure. It is carbonation which adds immensely to the flavor of our ice cream.

BETTER AND NICER

Your tongue will tell you when you taste carbonated ice cream. It is so much richer, more flavorful and smoother. Just as carbonated water brings out the flavor and aroma of delicate fruit juice, so does carbonating bring out the flavor and aroma of the pure syrups and fruit juices which we use in manufacturing our ice cream. Be sure you get our CARBONATED ICE CREAM. Accept no other.

"Insist Upon Sidebottom's"

We are agents here for this delicious Ice Cream. Many flavors, also Pineapple and Orange Sherbet.

HARTSELLE, ALA., June 4.—The continued hot weather is beginning to tell in earnest on the growing crops. No rain of any consequence has fallen here since the 12th of May.

Many acres of bottom lands that are ordinarily depended on for the corn crop, have been bedded for some time waiting for a season to plant. The ground now is as hard as flint and it will take a big rain to put it in condition.

Cotton chopping which should have been well under way has just begun on a small scale, and much of the land planted to cotton is still without stand. The plant is small and not promising although the present kind of weather is ideal cotton weather, devoid of moisture.

The local dealers here are unable to supply the demand for peas and soy beans. Practically every farmer is drilling these in his corn middles, and a large acreage is being sown for hay. Velvet beans are also being planted rather liberally.

Many in this section are trying their initial acre in strawberries, and those who were late in getting their plants out are losing many on account of the hot sun. It will be necessary to replant much of the late acreage.

A rally of the agricultural club members of the county will be held here on June 4th. The meeting will be in charge of County Agent W. G. Johnson, who has been very active in instituting these clubs over the county. The meeting will be held at the City School building, and a parade will take place at ten o'clock. The motto of the county clubs is "To make the best better." Luncheon will be served to Club Members of Advisory Council. At one p. m. athletic and club stunts will be pulled off. From two to four p. m. the members will be the guests of the Hartselle Chamber of Commerce. A large attendance is looked for and an enthusiastic time is anticipated.

G. W. Willey suffered a painful injury at the Big Four Ranch one day this week, occasioned by a heavy timber falling on his head. It was necessary to take several stitches to close the wound.

Summer School will open here June 14th, at the City School building, at eight o'clock. The school will be taught for the benefit of teachers taking review work, and for pupils making up deficiencies. Arrangements are also made for pupils in lower grades. Professors E. L. Hays and G. G. Glover will be in charge.

Hon. Malcolm R. Patterson will deliver a lecture at the Methodist church Tuesday, June 14th, at 8 o'clock. Subject: "Looking Forward."

The Hartselle Chamber of Commerce is now getting thoroughly organized, and great promises are held out for a live body of business men. Dr. A. M. White is president, and A. Burleson, secretary.

Beginning June 6th, the three banks of this place will begin closing their places of business at 3 p. m. instead of four o'clock as formerly.

The Epworth League members will produce a play at the Public School Auditorium tonight for the benefit of the league, entitled, "The Thread of Destiny." The cast is well made up
